Kenneth L. Thomas, minister - 615-890-6959

Jimmy W. Cox, 82 year-old preacher for the church in Columbia, Miss., and his wife Shirley, age 61, died in a fire that left little but ashes.

daughters Llene Poles and Nancy Tolbert, both of Mobile, Ala., and a deceased son, Jimmy Cox, Jr. Nancy is church secretary at the Regency

The fire occurred about 2 a.m. Monday, Jan. 10. Jimmy had been a newspaper man in Columbia for many years, but had spent his last several years trying to keep a small congregation going. He wrote Bible teaching articles for Magnolia Messenger as well as in the local paper. His first wife, Mattie, had died in 2004, and her death was recorded in Magnolia Messenger. They had three children,

Church of Christ in Mobile, and her minister Allen Eldridge conducted Jimmy's service yesterday at 12:30 PM, followed Shirley's funeral at 10 A.M..

Beech Grove congregation had been helping to support the congregation in Columbia during recent months. We need to pray for the church there and those who will try to continue the work.

A New Year

Time marches on. As long as men live on this earth, the marking of time by hours, days, and years will be of great importance. When God created the lights of heaven, one purpose was to divide day from night and “for signs, seasons, days, and years.” Genesis 1:14. In Exodus 12 we read of God’s appointment of the first month of the Jewish year (named Abib, Exodus 13:4).

On our calendar we have already passed the first day of a new year. As you look back on 2010, do you see progress in your life? Are you closer to God than a year ago? What plans have you made for 2011? Let’s all make plans to make Beech Grove a center of activity and progress for the Lord. Your closest friends should be your brothers and sisters in Christ. Let’s grow in love and fellowship that will attract those who are not saved to desire what we have.

There are several things we need to do in the near future:

- Strengthen the commitment of each member to the Lord and his cause.
- Develop a greater awareness of the world evangelism.
- Develop more personal responsibility for the welfare of the local congregation.
- Renew and strengthen our efforts in mission work.
- Increase our contribution to offset the increased cost of normal operation and the need to expand our out reach.

We cannot afford to rest on the accomplishments of last year. Let’s surge with renewed zeal, enthusiasm, and faithfulness in attendance to services and faithfulness in daily life.
